Loyola Wins Northern Division Championship

At the end of the regular season Loyola stands first in the Northern Division with a 10-3 conference record. Over-all they are 11-9. It was a season that saw both the new (two victories over Mount Saint Mary's, the first since 1958) and the old (the 18th and 19th consecutive victories over Hopkins, in a streak extending back to 1953).

With the exception of Tom Keys who played with the 1958 team, there were no new faces on this year's team. Teamwork and hustle offset the lack of height.

The season began badly as the Hounds were upset by Western Maryland in the opener. This was followed by losses to traditional basketball powers Seton Hall, Hofstra, and St. Peters. At this point it was obvious that Loyola had a good team but perhaps one that could not stay with their taller opponents. The win over previously unbeaten Old Dominion and a second place finish in the Loyola Invitational Tournament did much to bolster the Hound's sagging spirits.

The Hounds reversed the trend after the Tournament. Although they lost non-conference games to Georgetown and St. Francis, they won 9 of 11 contests in the Conference, including the most satisfying double Mount victories.

Hounds To Face Southern Division Opponent Tonight

The tap-off for the Mason-Dixon Basketball Tournament takes place at 5:30 this evening in the Catholic University gymnasium, and the games will run through Saturday night with both Northern and Southern Conference teams contesting for the crown. Although the selections are not definite as of this writing, it appears likely that Randolph-Macon, Catholic University, Roanoke, Old Dominion College, and Hampden-Sydney will represent the Southern half of the conference, while Loyola, Western Maryland, B.U., and Mt. St. Mary's will uphold the North's laurels.

The team enters this Tournament after a recent 113-97 triumph over Washington College and five victories in their last six games. They hope to continue their winning ways and complement their first place in the conference with a first in the Tournament.

Student tickets are $1.00 and may be obtained only at the athletic office. A large turnout would assist a good Hound performance.

Individuals And Team Have Good Chance, As Wrestling Tourney Opens

Captain Buck McCarthy

Loyola's matmen will travel to Western Maryland for the annual Mason-Dixon Wrestling Tournament. The team will be led by its three undefeated wrestlers, Alex Schlipp, Tom Milligan, and Captain Buck McCarthy.

Alex Schlipp, defending champion in 137 lb. class, will try for his third straight title, while Milligan and McCarthy have such strong seasonal records that their chances for a title are very good.

Two other grapplers, both second in last year's tournament, have turned in outstanding performances this year. These are Bish Baker and Butch Emmett. Mel Kodensky, Lenny Eiswert, Bill LeFevre, and Bill Lathroum could also surprise many of their opponents.

Tonight at 7:00 p.m., at Gallaudet College in Washington, the Loyola tankmen begin the Three-day contest which will determine whether or not they carry home, for the third consecutive time, the Mason-Dixon Tournament trophy. American U., Lynchburg, Roanoke, Catholic U., Gallaudet, Old Dominion, Baltimore U., Hopkins, and Randolph-Macon will provide the opposition. Loyola is regarded throughout the conference as the team to beat, and coach Klarnner predicts another victory for Loyola. An innovation in this year's tourney will be the 400 yd individual medley. This event has never been swum before in M-D competition. Preliminaries and finals of this event and of the 1650 yd. freestyle will take place tonight. All other qualifications and finals will be on Friday and Saturday.

Opposition

A.W. constitutes the only serious opposition for the Green and Grey. Loyola is strong in all events except the sprints and the freestyle relay. This weekend's activity should see many records fall.

Student support for the swimming team has been good this year. Those who have consistently supported the hound swimmers know what a great spectator sport swimming is.

Grapplers' Hard Work Rewarded By High Successful Season

In the two years Charley Carey has coached Loyola, he has amassed a fine 11-2-1 record. His knowledge of the mechanics and finesse of wrestling and his ability to raise spirit have been the key factors in his success. Senior team, Captain Buck McCarthy has been a stabilizing influence in the team's morale. Buck has led the team with his fine example on and off the mat.

Tom Milligan, Alex Schlipp, and Buck McCarthy have spearheaded the team's attack with unblemished records. Schlipp has been M-D champ in the 137 lb. class for the past two seasons, and should take the crown again this year. Tom Milligan was second last season, but is top man in the conference this year. Tom has been Loyola's outstanding wrestler this year.

Credit goes also to the non-regulars who have put in the hard hours of practice this year, and have supplied the first team with the competition necessary for the success of the team. They are Mike Mazzi, Leo Jubb, Stas Chryznowski, and Charley Cannaliato.
